Precautions when viewing web viewing sites

- The copyrights of the contents made available on the IIGANN 2023 streaming site shall belong to IIGANN 2023 and authors of respective papers.
- Online participants in IIGANN 2023 shall agree to protect the copyrights.
- Unauthorized use of presentations made at IIGANN 2023, whether by paper, electronic means or otherwise, is strictly prohibited under the copyright regulations. "Use of presentations" shall include reproduction of presentations for sale, commercial distribution and any other business purposes.
- Unauthorized reproduction, resale, transmission, distribution, loan, translation, and alteration of all or any part of the contents of the IIGANN 2023 streaming site (including texts, images, videos, and programs) without prior consent shall constitute an infringement of copyright and be subjected to legal penalty, unless private use thereof is explicitly permitted under the Copyright Act and/or other applicable laws and treaties. Accordingly, online participants shall be prohibited from reproducing, reselling, distributing, or printing all or any part of the contents of the IIGANN 2023 streaming site for use by any third parties, without prior consent of the IIGANN 2023.
